

The Institute for Early Childhood Education & Research is pleased to offer:

A Summer Institute on UBC campus:

ECED 380

In Dialogue with Reggio Emilia: Examining Principles of the Reggio Emilia Pedagogical Philosophy

July 4-15, Monday-Friday, 1:30-5:30 (10 days)

with

Gunilla Dahlberg
from the Stockholm Institute of Education

Co-Author of Beyond Quality in Early Childhood Care and Education: Postmodern Perspectives (1999)

This Course will be offered through the UBC External Programs and Learning Technologies Office (EPLT) and will be open to students, teachers, and early childhood educators.

Registration information:

<http://www.eplt.educ.ubc.ca/di/courseinfo.htm#ECED380A>

Course description: The course examines what it means to stand in dialogue with the complex principles of the pedagogical philosophy in the Northern Italian city of Reggio Emilia. The following themes will be deconstructed and reconstructed in relation to the participants' own experiences and to experiences in Reggio Emilia and Sweden:

- Images of the child, knowledge and learning
- The construction of the environment
- The hundred languages
- Pedagogical documentation
- A pedagogy of listening and welcoming – ethics as first practice
- Quality assurance and evaluation
- Local cultural projects on childhood

A free Public Lecture by Gunilla Dahlberg:
Pedagogy as an ethical encounter: Reflections from experiences in Stockholm and Reggio Emilia.

Date and location TBA: Check this website for details